Asian Golf Travel Nation - January 2015

Dear Golf Travelers,

Welcome to this edition of the Asian Golf Travel Nation, the source for news breaking information about golf in SE Asia. In addition, unique golf playing tips for Indochina's tropical environment, updates on tournaments and golf travel promotions, and our latest subscription offer are all integral parts of today's newsletter.

Can you believe it is already 2015? From sunny, dry, and incredibly comfortable SE Asia, I wish you and your families a happy and healthy New Year.

January not only marks the beginning of the year but it also starts the absolute three best months of the year for golf in Asia. From the awarded Bali Golf Paradise to the links courses on the Vietnam Golf Coast there is a golf destination here to match your golf travel preferences.

Vietnam is one of the world's 25 hottest destinations to visit in 2015. Vietnam has iconic colonial properties (Sofitel Metropole Hanoi), all-inclusive private villas (Fusion Maia Danang), as well as boutique resorts (Centra Taum Bali). Golf foodies are in for gastronomic treats too; why not try your hand at Vietnamese cooking at a cooking class overlooking the rice fields of Hoi An? This year's 40th anniversary of the end of the Vietnam War is the perfect time for golfers to explore the fairways, cities/towns, landscapes, historical sites, and local markets - all reasons to put Vietnam on your golf map now!

Further south, Malaysia was conferred Asia's Best Golf Destination for 2014 and is readying itself for increased golf visitors in 2015. Besides best overall Asian golf destination Malaysia's other awards included: Asia's Best New Golf Course (Els Course, Langkawi); top Malaysia golf resort (Shangri-La Rasa Ria) and #1 Malaysia golf course (Kota Permai Golf and Country Club). These awards recognize Malaysia's rise in prominence in the golf travel industry. With a choice of over 200 golf courses that are open all-year long, Malaysia appeals to golfers the world over.

Just a reminder though, while advance bookings for the next few months are excellent, it is becoming increasingly difficult to confirm peak tee times and to find rooms at the best resorts. Please contact us as soon as you know your travel plans. Let's get golfing!

Here is what's new in golf around the region.

Thailand golf scene, is getting not only one, but two new golf courses this month. The Katathong Golf Resort is located north of Phuket in Phang Nga Province. Transfer time is about 1 hour from Phuket Airport and two hours from Patong. It officially opens on 9th January and we have excellent promotional rates of under US$100. Down on Phuket Island itself, Laguna Phuket re-opens January 11th. The completely redesigned layout with new Bermuda greens, Zoysia fairways and rough reverses the front and back nine, making the old 10th the new 1st. This makes sense as the 1st tee close is now close to the practice facilities and the 18th green is directly in front of the clubhouse. Goodbye back-to-back finishing par-5 holes. The rest of the layout is pretty much the same, however the old 17th tee has been moved back into the 16th slot and it now plays as shorter par-5 followed by a par-3 to the existing 17th green. Also, best of all golf carts are available for those inclined to ride and the clubhouse has been completely refurbished and brought up to modern standards.

Katathong Golf Resort & Spa, Phuket

With the new additions Phuket will regain some of its former golfing allure and with Laguna back in play I for one am looking forward to playing one of my favourite Phuket golf courses!

Cambodia

Siem Reap: After a long absence, I visited Siem Reap last month and not surprisingly Angkor Golf Resort continues to be the leading golf course in Cambodia. In fact, I found the conditions so good that I would put the course up against any in the region as far as course conditioning and service goes. I would earmark multiple rounds at Angkor for any Siem Reap golf package, it was that good. David, keep up the great work!

Angkor Golf Resort, Siem Reap

The little known Siem Reap Booyoung Country Club was also a joy to play with caddies who surprisingly speak the best English of any of the area's 3 courses. The only disappointment was Phokeethra which has seen better days. Even the little touches from its past like a welcome and halfway drink are now gone. Let's hope the owners take note and work on bringing the course up to the standards of 5 years ago. At that time, the course was so good even professional events were staged there.

Vietnam

Danang: The 4th course for the Golf Coast Vietnam is nearing a reality in 2015. The Bana Hills Golf Club project has an aggressive completion schedule in place. Major earthworks and shaping are mostly completed and grassing is scheduled to begin in a few months. Clubhouse construction is also pushing ahead to match with the course's completion later this year. With natural elevation changes, ravines, uncut forests, streams and mountain backdrops, this will be a contrast for golf in Danang, more usually known for links-style courses. Golf is set to be taken to the next level in 2015.

Bana Hills Golf Club, Danang, Vietnam

In other Danang news, Trip Advisor has named the coastal city as a top destination, certainly on the rise in Asia and the World. Forbes also voted Danang beach one of the 10 most beautiful beaches in the world. Besides this, I recommend all golfers spend one evening "tasting their way through the area". Our Hoi An Tapas Tour™ combines several of the area's great restaurants, creating one spectacular evening out on the town. Not only will you have a chance to taste all that is on offer, you will also have a chance to see Hanoi: Construction at a new Jack Nicklaus-designed course some 2.5 hours east of Hanoi is underway. Situated in the town of Sam Son, in Thanh Hoa Province, FLC Golf Links is part of yet another mega-project along Vietnam's coastline. Judging from the design drawings that show how the natural features will be interwoven into the course, FLC Golf Links will be both challenging and exciting for golfers at all levels. In fact if you ask me, the course resembles a British Isles links layout more than a tropical Vietnamese course set along the South China Sea. Developers say the golf course will be open in May 2015, but I think a year later would be more realistic.

Malaysia

 Desaru: Malaysia's next golf destination is making progress. Vijay Singh visited Malaysia's west coast to inspect the work on his latest golf design project at Desaru. Singh's Desaru Valley layout will become the second in the area under The Els Club Malaysia brand when it opens in 2016, following The Els Club Desaru Coast, which will open for play in 2015. Desaru Valley takes advantage of the natural topography, featuring dramatic changes in elevation and incredible backdrops. Facilities will include a 25,000 square foot clubhouse, complementing the nearby 27-hole Els Club Desaru Coast venue, an Els Performance Academy and Els Residences overlooking the golf course. Once complete, the two Els Clubs will undoubtedly attract golfers from outside Malaysia to the area. Desaru can be reached by car in around 2 hours from either Singapore or Kuala Lumpur.

The Amari Hua Hin Amateur Golf Week event has been heavily subscribed and we now have just 20 positions left.

 Book & pay before 20 January and receive a free round of golf at Imperial Lake View (Wednesday 4 March) with cart & caddie. ***

Black Mountain Golf Club has announced that it will host the Thailand Classic in February, a major golf tournament co-sanctioned by the European and Asian tours, 3 weeks prior to our event so we are expecting the greens and golf course to be in excellent condition. Both Springfield and Banyan will be hosting the Asian Tour's qualifying school at the end of January, so Hua Hin has a high profile for both professionals and Amateurs alike.

Mark Penfold from GolfAsian states "If you are looking to play championship golf courses in peak condition, in a pro-style 4-round tournament, then you should join us in Hua Hin during March 2015. While there is no cut, there is plenty of pressure to produce 4 consistent, quality rounds to lift the trophies."

We now have the Volvik Golf Company (Thailand) as our golf ball sponsor for the week and in the player's welcome bag, each will receive a sleeve of Volvik golf balls.

If you would like to register for these two events please email tournaments@asiagolfweek.com to secure these final positions.

Golf Travel Testimonials

What you say about the Thailand Golf Experience

My name is John Billington. I live in Auckland, New Zealand, which is the largest and most populace area in the country. I am a member of Titirangi Golf Club, a course designed by Alastair McKenzie on his trip south to design Royal Melbourne. I have played golf in most continents and especially on the McKenzie courses in California (including Cypress Point). I was a scratch handicapper but at 66 years I am now playing off a respectable 7.

I have been travelling to Europe for sailing holidays regularly for the past five years and transit through Asia. I travel one way alone, meeting my wife in Europe and taking the opportunity to play some golf on the way.

I started using Golfasian to arrange golf holidays in Thailand. It worked seamlessly for me with transport etc and because they tended to join me up with other groups I met many interesting people from all around the world whom I would not otherwise meet: Russians, Swedes, Germans, Dutch, Swiss, Scandinavians, and golfers from all over Asia; fascinating!!

The courses are all good, well-groomed and economical by world standards whilst facilities are of a uniformly high standard. Last year I spent a week on my own golfing in Phuket and recently a week in Chiang Mai. Red Mountain in Phuket is particularly stunning and a great test, whilst Alpine Chiang Mai is unique with its beautiful surroundings and varied types of holes providing different challenges.

I usually stay in hotels in the city rather than at a resort because I enjoy sightseeing, the local markets and restaurants including the wonderful street food.

Thai caddies are exceptional and great company; quite able to lift my spirits and get me back on track if I'm finding it difficult to find my rhythm. The Golfasian drivers are invariably courteous and efficient, providing recommendations on local attractions.

I will return to Thailand soon, this time with a group of friends from Titirangi. We shall probably play in the Chiang Mai area because the climate is appreciably cooler, the countryside truly beautiful and mountainous and there is such a lot to do and see. I'll leave the arrangements to Golfasian... they haven't let me down yet!

Hi Paul,

Just wanted to say a quick thanks to you and the Golf Asian team. Service exceeded expectation. Who ever interviews your drivers needs to be commended as they are all very good (always at least 15 to 30 minutes early which is really useful if you want to get to the course a little earlier than planned for food or go on the driving range).

Montry was the star for us last year in Pattaya and was equaled this year by Rocky in Hua Hin. Rocky is a great asset to the company, so much so we're more than happy to take him for a round of golf at Black Mountain (four pars in a row for him as well).

Chiang Rai - A Destination Review

Chiang Rai, capital of Thailand's northernmost province, lies in the heart of the exotic Golden Triangle. Chiang Rai has two international golf courses, both set in beautiful valleys, surrounded by hills and mountains. Chiang Rai is 785 kilometers north of Bangkok and has an average elevation of 580 meters above sea level, making for pleasant golf weather and cool evenings year round. The province, which is located where Myanmar, Laos and Thailand converge, is renowned for its beautiful mountain scenery, the romantic Mekong River, hill tribe villages, temples and ancient sites and ruins. A small section of downtown Chiang Rai is home to nice restaurants, pubs, and entertainment.

Chiang Rai golf courses include the Robert Trent Jones Jr. designed Santiburi Country Club and Waterford Valley, Chiang Rai's second golf course at nearly 7,000 yards playing from the back tees.

Chiang Rai offers a unique Thailand golf experience for those looking to play off the main tourist tracks while enjoying authentic Thai culture.

The Robert Trent Jones Jr designed Santiburi Country Club is laid out over vast fields with excellent placement of holes and an abundance of water hazards and bunkers. The golf course is widely regarded as one of the best conceived and maintained golf courses in Asia. Golfers living in Thailand will tell you that Santiburi in Chiang Mai is one of their favorite golf courses in Thailand, and this is no small compliment!

The golf course is championship calibre, yet it is playable and enjoyable for golfers of every skill level. Set into the contours of a valley, it is superbly landscaped and winds beneath a canopy of magnificent shaded trees, alongside crystal clear lakes and streams, turquoise skies and pearl white clouds above with the lush green foothills and mountains of Chiang Rai in the distance.

Press Release: Big Year for Golf Tourism as Golfasian Rejoins IAGTO

Bangkok, 8 January 2015 -- Golfasian, South-East Asia's leading dedicated golf tourism operator, has rejoined the International Association of Golf Tour Operators (IAGTO) after a two-year absence.

The move comes at an important time for the company and golf tourism in Asia, the world's fastest-growing market for travelling golfers. More than one million golfers are expected to travel to and within Asia in 2015, with Thailand, Vietnam, Malaysia, Indonesia and China leading the high level of activity.

Established in 1997, Golfasian was named last November as Asia's best golf tour operator at the inaugural World Golf Awards in Algarve, Portugal. The worldwide voting process included industry experts, senior executives and professionals from the golf, travel, and tourism industries.

Mark Siegel - Golfasian's MD

Golfasian's managing director, Mark Siegel (pictured), says the company has hosted 67,000 golfers and worked with 450 golf tour operators since its inception.

"We are pleased to be part of IAGTO again," he adds. "We have several IAGTO-related activities planned in 2015, including a high-end Vietnam FAM trip and exhibiting at the Asian Golf Tourism Convention in Jakarta in April.

"Golfasian will reach out to fellow IAGTO members through our Asian Golf Tour Operator newsletter and regular updates on product promotions. These vehicles enable communication about the latest news in the industry and keeps tour operators informed of course conditions and new developments in Asia."

IAGTO managing director, Peter Walton, says Golfasian is rejoining IAGTO at the beginning of an expected record-breaking year for the London-based organisation and golf tourism worldwide.

"On January 1, IAGTO reached 2250 member companies in 98 countries for the first time and its 567 golf tour operator members saw sales grow to over US$2.5 billion in 2014, the third year of consecutive growth. A record number of golf tour operators have already registered for IAGTO's 4th Asia Golf Tourism Convention in Jakarta (April 27-20) at which Golfasian will be participating."

After Hours Thailand Golf

Here is a new story from Davy, previously the number one golf retailer in Southern California and now a converted Thai golf addict.

When the phone rang it was a Thailand golf buddy all excited to tell me he had a game set up with some movers and shakers that were coming to town; and after a great lunch he had planned we would entertain them with a round of golf.

Lunch was indeed great; authentic Thai delicacies rolled out by smiling courteous servers. Thailand hospitality may be the greatest in the world. But it was getting late so I called him aside and said, "We're only playing nine holes, right?"

"Eighteen holes," he smiled.

"Hate to break the news to you but it'll be dark in a couple of hours. Had no idea lunch would be so extravagant."

"No problem," he said, "they have lights."

Not night golf, I thought. Previous encounters with nocturnal golf had me believing that you had to be 11 Titleist's short of a dozen to play golf at night. If the almighty had wanted golf played at night we'd have been born with bat vision or golf balls would have headlights.

Golfing Tips - Ensure a Good Pace of Play

In this day and age, with golfers watching the pros on TV and their sometimes inordinate preparation for a shot, the pace of general play has slowed dramatically. The pros might be playing for hundreds of thousands of dollars but we are not and I think we all agree, a four-ball played in 4 hours makes for a more enjoyable day. Here are a few tips that will help one and all get more from their experience on the golf course:

- Understand the order of play, from the tee shot to those in the fairway or on the green
- Knowing you are next to play, be prepared, with glove on and club pretty much pre-selected whether that means talking to the caddy beforehand about distance, line or troubles to be avoided; it doesn't matter if that needs to be tweaked at the last minute, you've already done most of the work
- Mentally picture your shot and a positive outcome before you actually arrive at the ball; this might mean looking at your potential landing area as you stroll down the hole or walk onto the tee or green
- Walk with purpose between strokes, which doesn't mean race but rather take the opportunity to enjoy some useful exercise as well as the golf itself
- Be aware of the group/players behind you and how your pace is affecting them; if necessary let them pass but be aware if your pace is just too slow for the course

I have never played with anyone who actually enjoys slow golf. Pledge to play with purpose (not rushing) and I promise you'll get more from the game.
