Planning and design works have started with construction due to start in late 2012 and course opening planned for 2014. With 14,000 attendees the Honda LPGA went down to the wire when Yani Tseng birdied the last hole to beat Ai Miyazato.

Bangkok: Another high end Bangkok driving range will be open soon. Combining one of my favorite and authentic Bangkok spas, the Phothalai Masters Golf & Leisure Center might just become one of the best places to practice golf in the area. Stay tuned for opening announcements and special golf & spa promotions.

Vietnam

 Hanoi: Another huge golf project is the Nicklaus designed Legend Hill Golf Resort in Soc Son hamlet. The first 9 holes and driving range are open while the second nine is probably 1 year away. No word on when visitors are welcome. I guess they

Phnom Penh: If the Grand Phnom Penh Jack Nicklaus signature course was not enough, construction is set to start on a second premium Phnom Penh golf course. Detailed design work on the East Course at the new Vattanac Golf Resort in Cambodia's capital city is now complete, with golf course construction expected to get underway on the Faldo Design project in 2012. Yim, every single arrangement from the accommodations, golf courses, transportation, sightseeing and meals worked out perfectly! Bangkok Dining

Many on a Thailand golf package spend at least a few days in Thailand's capital during their golf holiday as it offers convenient flight connections to around the world in addition to great golf, high standard accommodation, shopping, dining and entertainment. I am often asked for restaurant suggestions and while I do not claim to be a foodie, I know what I like.

Golfing Tips by Ian Morgan - Reading Grain on the Greens

Golfers playing in Thailand for the first time often have problems reading the greens. Without getting too technical, the grain refers to the direction the blades of grass grow.

If the green appears shiny to the cup you are going down grain and the putt will be faster and have less break. If the grass appears dull or darker you are putting into the grain and the put will be slower and take more break
