Asian Golf Travel Nation - September 2014

Dear Golf Travelers,

how you do it!

On the other side of the world, this month marks the end of summer for most of you in Europe and the USA. With your kids going back to school, the days getting shorter, and mercury beginning to fall it might just be the best time of year for you to start thinking about and planning your winter golf travels.

One country I would like to highlight is Vietnam. I am in Vietnam now and the development of golf and sincerity of the Vietnamese people continues to amaze me. There are new hotels on the Vietnam golf coast and new courses manned by friendly locals springing up all over the country. The locals really know how to make you feel as their valued guest and love to share their country and culture with you. Further afield, the same sentiment transcends across all of the countries in SE Asia. Want more detailed information? Check out our multi-destination Golf Lifestyle Experience™ Tours or speak to our golf travel consultants. They can help you plan your trip.

Every year at this time I claim that there's no better time to get away for some summer golf in Asia than right now. For example, the Hua Hin Golf Festival starts this month and now is your chance to play Hua Hin at super low rates. Green fees start at only US$30! Of course there are also some low season specials to be had in other destinations too. October for example is a great month to travel to Phuket or Chiang Mai. The main rains have cleared, but great prices are still in effect prior to the official high season start in November. Drop me a line if you can travel in October and I will be glad to discuss your preferences and suggest a golf tour to match your budget.

With that, I invite you to read on and hear what's new in golf around the region.

 Bangkok: Nikanti Golf Club seems to be delayed again as club house and drink kiosk construction are stalled to at least the end of the year. Once open Nikanti will feature Thailand's first 6/6/6 formula - with two par 3s, two par 4s and two par 5s in three six-hole loops. The Bangkok golf course will be a daily fee all-inclusive facility. Rates will include green fee, golf cart, caddie fee, caddie tip, two meals and non-alcoholic drinks. Nikanti should open in early 2015 and is bound to attract considerable attention from visiting golfers. Watch for more details in coming months.

 Dalat: Vietnam's highest golf destination is getting better. The 1920's designed Dalat Palace Golf Club continues to amaze Vietnam golfers with its all bent grass greens, fairways, and tees. Sacom Tyuen Lake Golf Club, while still new, is maturing nicely with all 18 holes playing through stately pine tree forests. Finally Royale City Golf Resort is closed for 3 months, but should re-open by year's end under the new identity of Dalat 1200 Golf Club and the full 18-holes in operation. With 54 holes at 1500 meters above sea level Dalat will be Vietnam's 'coolest' golf destination.

 Jakarta (Bogor): Good news from Java's main golfing region. Lido Golf Club, better known for its attractive caddies has selected Ernie Els to lead the design of on-course renovations. The planning and initial design works have already been completed with construction on the golf course renovation due to start next month. The renovations are sure to bring the already scenic parkland course up to modern golf course standards.

Hyatt Regency Hua Hin Amateur Golf Week: 12-18 October, 2014

After the huge success of June's Centara World Masters in Hua Hin, we have been flooded with enquiries for when the next tournament returns to Hua Hin. Good news is we have scheduled an event 12-17 October. Offering a series of 3,4 and 5 star venues including the Hyatt Hua Hin right on the beach, there will be an accommodation type to suit all players and playing the 4 best courses in the area including Black Mountain and Banyan, there will be no excuses for not having a great time.

Siam Country Club Pattaya Amateur Golf Week: 18-25 October, 2014

Being just 90 minutes from the airport and situated right on the gulf of Thailand, Pattaya is our favourite destination for many of our players. This tournament we will be playing all three Siam Country Club courses and throwing in Thai Country Club to boot. These 4 championship courses will certainly show you the best golf courses and conditioning in Thailand. October is an ideal time to be playing these courses as they have just come out of the raining season and all the courses are in tip top, championship condition.

Chiang Mai Amateur Golf Week: 25 October - 1 November, 2014

As our season ending event, Chiang Mai has become popular with the tournament players for a relaxed week in a cooler climate. Many of the golfers enjoy the more laid back atmosphere of this event compared to the hustle and bustle of Pattaya and Hua Hin. The hotels we have selected are all centrally located to the night market and restaurant districts. Chiang Mai Highlands and Alpine Country Club rate high in the course rankings in Thailand and will surely test all the player's skills over the week-long event.

Registrations for these events can be made online on this tournament link or you can email tournaments@asiagolfweek.com to secure your position.

 Golf in a Kingdom News - Why Chiang Mai?

If you've sampled the energy of Bangkok and Pattaya on your Thailand golf experience, or enjoyed the sea air and world renowned courses of Hua Hin's Black Mountain and Banyan perhaps you should try a completely different dimension, Chiang Mai.

Chiang Mai is where locals and expatriates alike escape to, relishing the change of pace, clean air and a temperature that inevitably is 5 or more degrees cooler than the south.

Chiang Mai is the former capital of the Lanna Kingdom and is considered an area more allied with nature, with a diverse culture influenced by its position near the confluence of the Ruak and Mekong rivers and borders of Myanmar and Laos at the infamous Golden Triangle. As a hub of several ancient realms, Chiang Mai has been a center of knowledge exchange, religion, architecture and commerce for centuries.

 Golf Travel Testimonials

What you say about the Thailand Golf Experience

My name is Bill Williams. I live in Yamba, a small seaside town on the far north coast of New South Wales in Australia. The town is famous for its prawns which are harvested by a fleet of some 16 fishing boats. I have golfed for about 50 years and peaked as a 7 handicap; I'm now a respectable 16.

I am a member of Yamba Golf and Country Club. The course was established 55 years ago close to Pippi Beach, a local beauty spot. It is a parkland course with Bermuda greens that are rated the best in the district. The course is both challenging and a pleasure to play. It is also home to around 100 Kangaroos which pay little attention to golfers on the course.

The trip I undertook was my third to Thailand but my first involving golf. I organize golfing trips for small mixed groups from our club playing prestige resort courses in the Hunter Valley, a major wine growing area, or on the beautiful east coast of Australia as far south as Nelson Bay.

Why Thailand you may ask, when we have access to some of the best golf Australia has to offer? A group of members returned from a trip to Hua Hin and were full of praise, so rather than go to the Sunshine Coast I decided to sample the Thai golf experience. Whilst I checked a number of tour providers, I was immediately impressed with the efficiency of Golfasian. Their representative Ian Morgan quickly put together a program, having listened to my requirements, and kept me informed of all details right up to the day we left.

Hua Hin - A Destination Review by Ian Morgan

The seaside resort of Hua Hin is located three hours south of Bangkok and is one of the fastest growing destinations in Thailand. There are a great selection of places to stay from the top 5 star properties, luxurious villas to basic guest house accommodation.

The two best courses in Hua Hin are Black Mountain (the first course in Thailand to be voted in the top 100 in the world by Golf Digest) and the Banyan Golf Club which recently celebrated its 5 year Anniversary, have been instrumental in Hua Hin being voted best golf destination in Asia at the end of 2013. There are other very good courses in the area that have helped make Hua Hin such a good golf destination, not to mention Royal Hua Hin GC which was built in 1924 and is the oldest golf club in the country. The prestigious Kings Cup Asian Tour Event will be played in Hua Hin for the next five years, so golf looks in a very healthy state for the coming years.

Palm, Majestic Creek is arguably the best laid out golf course in Hua Hin. Major renovations covering all 27-holes have been undertaken in 2012 including some of Hua Hin's best Tifeagle turfed greens.

Majestic Creek Country Club is set in the foothills 20 kilometers west of Hua Hin. The journey towards the course offers rural views of Thai life including sugar cane, tapioca, and pineapple plantations and farms. Majestic Creek is surrounded by nature. Valleys in the nearby mountains supply water to the maze of streams winding around the course, and the builders have been careful to preserve them as natural hazards; making for some tricky shots over water.

Press Release: Golfasian Gears Up Again

BANGKOK, Thailand, August 25, 2014 --- Golfasian Co. Ltd., www.golfasian.com, Southeast Asia's largest dedicated pure-play golf tour operator and local Thai SME darling has bucked the 2014 trend in Thai Tourism once again with a reported 22 percent increase in turnover for the 12 months ending July 31 2014.

The Thai tourism industry has been in a state of flux since November 2013 and this can be seen in the number of arrivals decreasing by 10.7% in the first six months of 2014. However, with new investments and the success of new divisions catering to golf tournaments, corporate golf travel and events, and even real estate, Golfasian has managed to continue their unabated growth. Moreover, this industry-leading boost in golf travel revenue is a direct consequence of the company's industry leading service quality and diversity of destinations offered.

Golfasian reported that year-on-year golf visitor volume rose 23.4 percent to 9,756 golfers, while median revenue per person increased 9.2 percent to US$1,750. Thailand accounted for 70% of the company's revenue, Vietnam 15%, Malaysia 10%, and the rest of Asia 5%.

The company's golf stay-and-play packages continued to fuel growth, comprising more than 80% of total revenues.

"In 2014 we saw an overall slowdown in Thai tourism with Bangkok hit hardest," said Managing Director, Mark Siegel. "However, demand for Golfasian's services went the other way. Particularly strong were other Thai destinations like Hua Hin and other countries including Vietnam, Malaysia, and Bali. Also, as our clients' leisure time becomes scarcer, more are choosing to use Golfasian for the superior golf holiday experience and beginning-to-end service we offer."

Golfasian has expanded its operations including establishing new offices in Bali, Danang, Hanoi, Kuala Lumpur, and Singapore. Additionally, the company has brought to market new products such as amateur golf tournaments and corporate golf events.

"The recent Centara World Masters (CWM) Golf Championship is an excellent example of our new services. The 450 person event, held in June in cooperation with Go Golfing from Australia, was Thailand's largest ever amateur golf tournament. In 2015, we plan no less than 8 events, including the second edition of the CWM," Mark Siegel said.

On the traditional leisure golf holiday side of the business, the company continues to maintain a strong web presence from a network of 65 high-ranked web sites to attract new clients.

Director of Business Development, Pascal Orczech, said "I am especially proud of our new Chinese language web site www.golfasian.cn and although the job of human translation of over 1,500 pages was daunting, Golfasian now maintains not only the largest informational Asian golf web site in English, but Chinese as well. This will assist Chinese golfers in selecting the best destinations and golf courses for their golf holidays."

Siam Country Club, Waterside - Comparison With Old and Plantation Courses

Most golfers in Pattaya agree that the Siam Country Club Old Course and Siam Country Club Plantation Course are the two best golf courses in Pattaya.

However, if there are any complaints about the two courses, it is that they are both quite difficult for high handicap golfers. Around the greens it is not uncommon for weekend golfers to take five or more shots to get up-and-down as the slopes, elevated greens, and bunker complexes require accuracy and precision in chipping and putting. Perch yourself one afternoon above the Old Course's 18th and you will see what I mean!

Siam Country Club - Waterside

With this in mind, the owners of Siam Country Club have given the design brief to IMG to develop a new golf course that is friendlier and accommodates a wider variety of golfers. The Waterside Course takes advantage of gentler terrain and does away with raised greens and high-lipped bunkers to create a more balanced course with many excellent scoring opportunities.

Golfing Tips by Ian Morgan - Dress Code for Golf

Although Thailand's golfing dress code is fairly casual in general, shirts with collars and sleeves are required for the courses. Tailored shorts with sports socks are also acceptable. A good tip is to take a change of clothes to the course as the clubhouse facilities are very good, and a shower after your game is very refreshing.
